This Side of Heaven

I must have done something right! Deciding to apply for admission to the Manor was the best decision I ever made.

How blessed can one be? Usually being single means being lonely. I never feel this way. I have made so many wonderful friends who have become family to me, and I love them more and more every day.

Every resident can live the life he wishes. If he desires privacy or a more social network, it is his decision. When you are engaged with others, however, it makes for a happier life and a fine way to spend the rest of your life.

There are so many activities and events to engage in, for instance educational classes, musical performances, games, and so much more. At times my calendar is full to overflowing. The residents themselves work on many committees and enjoy being active.

So, prospective retirees, "Come to the Manor!"

The Manor's Culture

Why am I happy at the Manor? At first I didn't know if I would be. I lived in what was to me a charming New England cottage in New Haven, Connecticut. I was about to become eighty years of age and thought it would be wise to look at retirement communities,

This I did. The communities in my area were demoralizing. They were all high-rises with little old ladies like me hovering around the front door with their walkers.

By chance, I came out to visit an old friend in Carmel who had just moved into an apartment at the Manor. I went to see the Manor with her and was enchanted by the many flowers in bloom. Everyone had her own front door and many had their own private garden. It was delightful, just what I wanted, but it was not in my neighborhood.

After six months of dithering, I got up my courage, grabbed my little dog, and leapt across the country to the Manor.

Moving in was fun! I love decorating and all that kind of thing. The people who worked here and helped me put my apartment together were wonderful beyond belief. They clearly liked old people and wanted to make my living conditions good for me and make me happy. To have someone available all the time to fix my television or hang a picture was a new and fortuitous situation.

At first, if someone hadn't invited me to join them for dinner, I took the takeout option - a nice choice. Then I discovered the informal dining room. Everyone just came in and sat down at any empty seat so you didn't feel like you were intruding. There are many interesting people here, and it was great fun getting to know them.

A few months after arriving, I was driving down the road when I realized I was singing. I was happy. I was here to stay.

If you plan to fly, you may hear something like this: "To operate your seat belt, insert the metal tab into the buckle and pull tight. It works just like every other seat belt; and, if you don't know how to operate one, you probably shouldn't be out in public unsupervised."

"In the event of a sudden loss of cabin pressure, masks will descend from the ceiling. Stop screaming, grab the mask, and pull it over your face. If you have a small child traveling with you, secure your mask before assisting with his. If you are traveling with more than one small child, pick your favorite."

"Your seat cushions can be used for flotation; and in the event of an emergency water landing, please paddle to shore and take them with our compliments."

"Thank you for flying ____ Airlines. We hope you enjoyed giving us the business as much as we enjoyed taking you for a ride."

Just after a very hard landing, a flight attendant came on the intercom and said, "That was quite a bump and I know what y'all are thinking. I'm here to tell you it wasn't the airline's fault; it wasn't the pilot's fault; it wasn't the flight attendant's fault; it was the asphalt."
