A Lesson in Praise ☞ Psalm 150:1-6

[1] "Praise the LORD! Praise God in his sanctuary; praise him in his mighty heavens! [2] Praise him for his mighty deeds; praise him according to his excellent greatness! [3] Praise him with trumpet sound; praise him with lute and harp! [4] Praise him with tambourine and dance; praise him with strings and pipe! [5] Praise him with sounding cymbals; praise him with loud clashing cymbals! [6] Let everything that has breath praise the LORD! Praise the LORD!"

Psalm 150 is not only a beautiful expression of praise, it is also a lesson in praising God. It tells us where to praise, why we are to praise, how we are to praise, and who should praise. In the next few paragraphs let's take a closer look at Psalm 150.

Where do we praise? In God's "sanctuary" and "mighty heavens" (v. 1). Where ever we are in the world is a proper place to praise the One who created all things.

Why do we praise? First, because of what God does. He performs "mighty deeds." Second, because of who God is. The psalmist praised Him for "His excellent greatness" (v. 2). The all-powerful Creator is the Sustainer of the universe.

How should we praise? Loudly. Softly. Soothingly. Enthusiastically. Rhythmically. Boldly. Unexpectedly. Fearlessly. In other words, we can praise God in many ways and on many occasions (vv. 3-5)

Who should praise? "Everything that has breath" (v. 6). Young and old. Rich and poor. Weak and strong. Every living creature. God's will is for everyone to whom He gave the breath of life to use that breath to acknowledge His power and greatness.

Praise is our enthusiastic expression of gratitude to God for reigning in glory forever.

*Let every creature rise and bring peculiar honors to our King;
Angels descend with songs again, And earth repeat the loud amen! ~ Isaac Watts*

The focus of Psalm 150 is obvious. The word praise is used 13 times in these 6 short stanzas of this psalm. Praise is defined as "expressing approval of or admiration for someone or something." This definition sounds dry and stiff. In Psalm 150 praise is an occasion for celebration – involving music dance. Praise of the Lord is a joyous occasion, a celebration of who He is and what He has done.

As you gather with your loved ones and friends this Thanksgiving season may I suggest that you add the reading of Psalm 150 and talk about ways you can praise God and why you can link your praise to God and your gratitude. God bless and Happy November everyone. With much love,

Pastor Bob Spilger, Chaplain
