Listen In Update

- Epiphany fruit to be placed in lounges and at Prairie Village on Jan. 4th
- Lynn Binnie's Retirement Reception on Jan 11th at 2:00 p.m. in Fellowship Hall. Program at 2:30pm

Reminder...Slips, trips and falls...

'TIS THE SEASON...even in January...for outdoor slips, trips and falls. Proper footwear is strongly encouraged whenever you are using Fairhaven transportation. When there is snow and ice, you are putting yourself and the drivers at risk of falls and injuries when you do not wear boots. The bus and van floors can be slick and, when temperatures drop, steps can be icy. Please check the weather for the day when you are traveling, even locally. Area merchants do not always clean off snow, or address icy situations with salt or sand. An extra moment taken in the name of "caution," to slip into your boots, is time well spent!

Fairhaven Annual Memorial Service January 13, 2019 - 6:00 p.m.

Even though we come to Fairhaven having already enjoyed full and meaningful lives, we discover a new life that we gain together as residents of Fairhaven and Prairie Village. We develop friendships in which we share experiences and stories; offer our gifts, knowledge and talents; and create new memories of camaraderie, support, and joy.

So when a Fairhaven friend passes away, we feel the loss. In our common loss, it is important for us to gather as the Fairhaven family to remember and give thanks for these friends, and to lift each other up in comfort and hope. We come together to share faith in a loving God who promises resurrection and everlasting life to all God's children.

We invite you to join us on January 13 at 6 p.m. in Fellowship Hall for the Annual Memorial Service, when we will remember the friends who passed away in 2018. We have invited the families of our friends to also attend the service. We know that our time of remembrance will help us feel close to our friends, to one another, and to God, who loves us and stays with us in all our grief and losses.

Fatigue & Hearing Loss

Hearing loss has been linked to a number of physical, social and psychological conditions including dementia, diabetes, anxiety, depression and social withdrawal. One of its lesser known side effects is fatigue. If you have been feeling more tired than usual lately and experience hearing loss, there may be a correlation between the two. The reason boils down to a condition known as listening fatigue, a consequence of expending extra effort in order to hear better.

Believe it or not, hearing involves the brain just as much as the ears. Your brain receives sensory input from the inner ear and is responsible for processing sounds and translating them into recognizable speech. Damage to the hair cells of your inner ear – a common cause of hearing loss – limits your ability to hear properly; when this occurs, your brain is forced to “pick up the slack” and works extra hard to understand what you are hearing. Doing so is taxing and often leads to feelings of exhaustion and decreased energy levels, even if you have refrained from any sort of physical activity.

Wearing hearing devices should significantly reduce these feelings of exhaustion. Because they amplify speech, your brain does not have to work as hard to convert this sensory input into sound, greatly reducing listening fatigue; this should translate to less physical tiredness and a boost in energy.

Other tips for reducing listening fatigue include:

- Taking a short break from noise, even if only for a few minutes every hour. Try to find a quiet place to walk or relax.
- Breathing deeply. Pausing on occasion to take deep breaths is an excellent relaxation method and can help give your brain a much-needed break.
- Eliminating background distractions. Background noise is one of the biggest obstacles to hearing effectively. Try turning off the television or music, or moving to a quieter place if there are background noises you cannot control.
- Taking a quick nap. If the other methods are ineffective, try taking a brief 20-30 minute nap. You'd be surprised at what a difference this can make; a rested brain and a rested body go hand-in-hand.

Call Fort Healthcare Audiology at (920) 563-6667 to schedule an appointment today.

Resident Council Update – January 2019

Another Glorious Christmas and New Year's

We thank everyone who contributed to making Christmas and New Year's so festive. The Christmas and New Year's traditions are lovely and much appreciated. And each year, there are new decorations and activities. We're already looking forward to 2019's!

Fairhaven Employees' Christmas Fund Committee 2018 Report

Residents and conservators donated wonderfully in 2018. With funds in the account from last year, $37,655 was available for distribution to the employees in 2018, $3545 more than last year. The 258 employees (8 more than last year) received either $165, $145, or $125. Fairhaven prohibits tipping employees through the year, so this fund provides a thank you to them for all their care and services. The Employee Christmas Fund Committee thanks you all for your cooperation and generous giving.

Dick Piehl, Christmas Fund Committee

Epiphany is Celebrated

The Friends of Fairhaven have a long-time tradition of providing fruit for all residents to celebrate Epiphany. This year that fruit will be distributed at Fairhaven and available in the Coffee House at Prairie Village on January 4. Merriam Webster dictionary describes Epiphany as "...a church festival in commemoration of the coming of the Magi as the first manifestation of Christ..." or "an appearance or manifestation of a divine meaning." A secular meaning is "a revealing scene or moment." However you view it, please enjoy your fruit and thank the Friends of Fairhaven.

Person/Volunteer of the Month

The Resident Council has added "Volunteer" to our monthly recognition of Fairhaven/Prairie Village residents who help our community. By making this addition, we expect to be able to recognize those volunteers from Whitewater and surrounding communities who regularly give us their time and talents. Nominations can be made by any Fairhaven or Prairie Village resident to any Resident Council member, preferably in writing. You can always leave your nomination in the Main Lobby Suggestion Box, now located by the Lobby Coffee Bar.

Shredder in the Library

It's that time of year when many of us will be cleaning out paperwork, etc. that we no longer need but may hesitate just to trash. Remember that we have a shredder in the Library, provided by Prairie Village Resident, Paul Balfe. It's easy to use and shreds VERY well. Housekeeping empties the bag (and can get more if needed), and you can sit while you feed it.

Little Free Library

The Library's January location is on the 4th Floor Assisted Living. Help yourself and contribute as you can!

New Year - New Insurance???

Just a reminder that if you have gotten a new Insurance or had changes in your Health Insurance plan, Fairhaven needs to know and also needs a copy of your Insurance Card. You can bring your card to the Reception Desk to have your copy made. If you have questions, contact Linda Peterson in the Business Office.
